

From the Media:

Recently I have been connected with a new PR powerhouse from the left coast, Elena Proctor. I can't forget her because she is quite simply ON THE CASE relentlessly, persistently, shaking things up and following up. Every day on issues ranging from voting integrity to investigative breakthroughs pumping bloggers we should read and issues we should care about.

She is rapid fire, on target, and, unlike Dick Cheney, rarely misfires. I don't really know her well but I do know she does have an impact because journalists like myself pay attention.
