

Steven R Kutcher

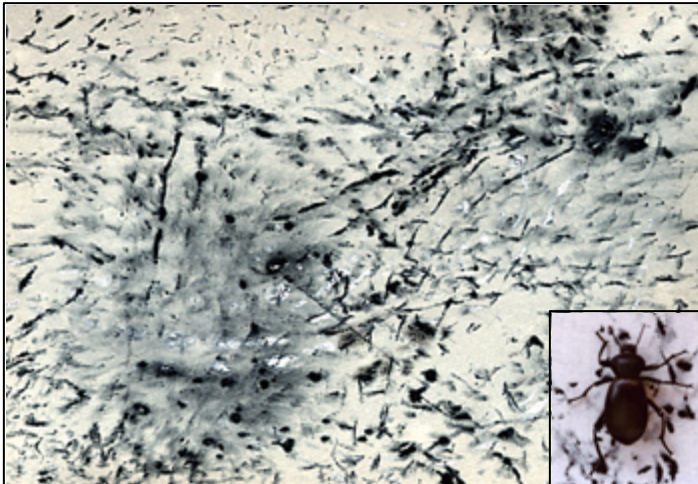

Bug Art

"A man paints with his brains and not with his hands."
— Michelangelo

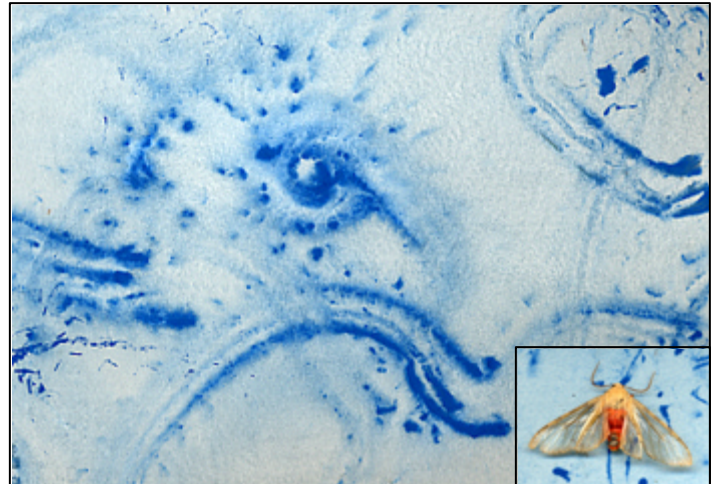

"First I saw the mountains in the painting;
then I saw the painting in the mountains."
— Chinese Proverb

"The painting has a life of its own."
— Jackson Pollock

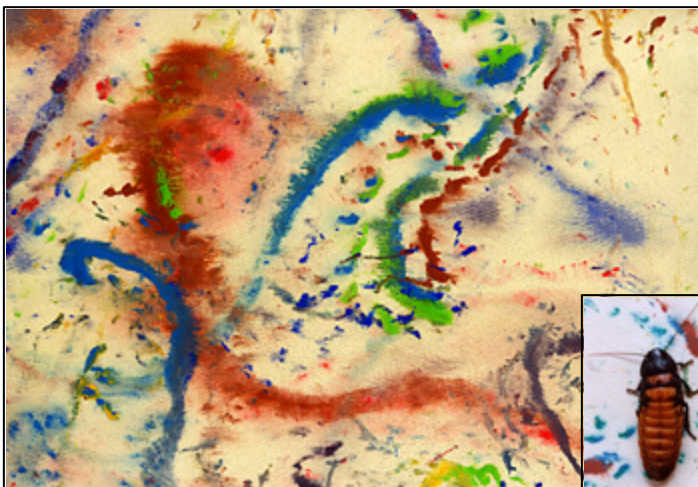

"Insects are the moving brushes that paint the world. Insect footprints are small, unseen and leave little record of their passing. There is a partnership between the artist and the arthropod in which the artist chooses the pigments, starting place and direction, and the insect writes a page in its life." — Steven R Kutcher

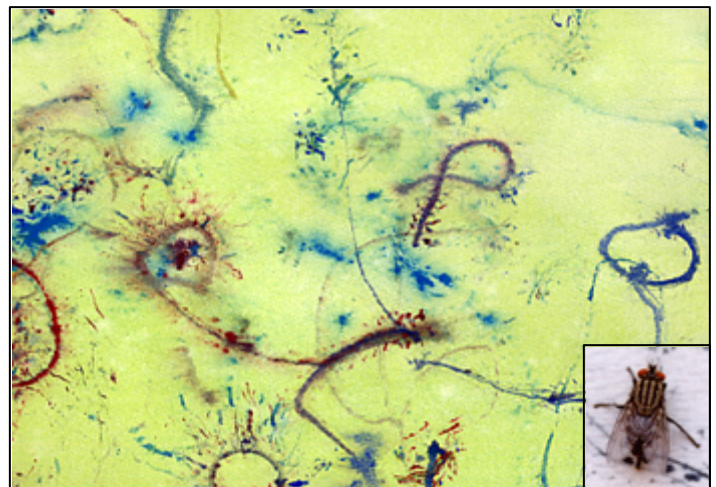

Beetle D (detail). Gouache on Paper, 15 x 20 in.
(insert) Darkling beetle.

Eye on You (detail). Gouache on Paper, 15 x 20 in.
(insert) Edwards Glasswinging Tiger Moth.

Roach Rainbow (detail). Gouache on Paper, 15 x 20 in.
(insert) Hissing Cockroach.

Fly Miro (detail). Gouache on Paper, 15 x 20 in.
(insert) Sarcophagid Fly.

Steven R Kutcher, BS, MA, is an entomologist, environmentalist, educator, and artist. World-renowned as an entomology consultant on over 75 feature films and numerous television and commercial productions, Kutcher has been featured on TV and radio shows and has been the subject of many magazine and newspaper articles. He has been a consultant to private industry and has spoken at universities, schools, and community organizations. Exposed to art from an early age, Steven R Kutcher has recently developed a synthesis of painting and nature that has created uniquely enchanting works of contemporary fine art.