Note: This generator was not designed with a spark arrestor so it is not recommended for camping or for use around dry brush.

Living here in Southern California, we bought this generator as an emergency power supply after the Whittier earthquake (to prevent costly losses of food in the freezer etc.).

We've protected this generator from the elements and run it periodically every year – it looks practically new and runs like new. We have the original operator's manuals (for both the generator and its factory-installed engine) as well as an extra spark plug, an additional muffler (to add on, if additional noise reduction is desired), and a grounding wire with clamp (as to hook onto a water pipe).

We plan to move to an apartment so must sell this generator, in practically new condition – our loss is your gain.
