A Scene From Killer Instincts

EXT. BEVERLY HILLS - DAY

Passing a sign welcoming them to "Beverly Hills," the taxi cruises in traffic, unaware of any danger, as are the PEDESTRIANS, noticing only the body of the taxi, still fuming from its encounter with the giant bombardier beetle.

TAXI DRIVER

(stunned)

I don't think this is covered by my insurance.

They turn a corner, onto "Rodeo Drive," and run right up to a giant TOOL-USING WASP, scattering the Pedestrians as it pounds one luxury car with another it has grasped between its jaws.

OLIVIA

Fascinating! Frank, did you know that insects are some of the only animals, besides us primates, to use tools?

FRANK

I'll be sure to make a note of it.

The wasp has been startled by the taxi and approaches.

TAXI DRIVER

Man, I KNOW I'm not covered for THIS!

Just before the wasp grabs the taxi and proceeds to pound it into the pavement, the occupants escape, the Taxi Driver running off in one direction, Frank and Olivia in the other.
