

April 24, 2004

I have contracted with Douglas Drenkow several times over several years to provide editorial and web design services for me.

Mr. Drenkow provided educational curricula during my tenure as a classroom teacher and elementary school principal as well as when I served as an administrator for an adventure travel company. Most recently, Mr. Drenkow has designed and maintained two web sites for me. Mr. Drenkow also served as editor for four of my novels. At all times I've found his work to be complete, timely and professional.

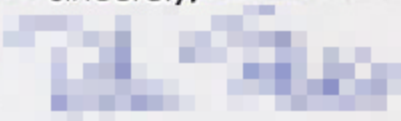

I've discovered that what makes Mr. Drenkow's work so professional is his wide breath of knowledge as a scientist and his understanding of complex historical and sociological paradigms. Many years of self-employment attest to his motivation and organizational abilities and success with accomplishing a variety of tasks. It also demonstrates that Mr. Drenkow works well with people of different backgrounds and abilities.

Among the many personal qualities of Mr. Drenkow I would include:

- Integrity
- Dedication
- A firm background and understanding science
- Ability to communicate with his peers
- A scintillating wit and sense of humor

I enthusiastically recommend Douglas Drenkow. I believe he is the kind of person that employers appreciate most: knowledgeable, dedicated, hard working and skilled in his craft.

Sincerely,

Peter Stekel

email: author@peterstekel.com

<http://www.peterstekel.com>